With only 11000 miles on the clock, this 2021 Ford Puma is barely broken in. As a car with a 1.0L petrol engine, this Puma is the ST-Line X variant in ST-Line X trim. It's a great example of a Euro 6 emissions class vehicle.

This particular model boasts a fuel economy of 50 mpg, which means fewer trips to the petrol station and more money in your pocket. The low CO2 emissions mean you'll be doing your bit for the environment, and potentially saving on road tax.

There is 1 optional extra which cost £500
